CONDOLENCES

Aaron Tsurumi Sugino passed away on April 23, 2022, at the age of 61. Namu Amida Butsu.

Aaron was very community minded. Over the years, he served as President of the Hakalau Jodo Mission and the Hakalau Community Association. In 2008, Aaron and his wife, Vinel, developed a cooperative to use the commercial kitchen established in the Fujii Bakery in Wailea. Their goal: revitalize the community.

A classmate from Hakalau School remembers his love of baseball, boy scouts, raising pidgeons, and fishing.

We send our condolences to his wife Vinel and their extended hanai family.

MESSAGE FROM REVEREND JUNSHIN MIYAZAKI

My older daughter Lisa graduated from Waiakea High School this year. She lived in Hawi for 3 years and 10 months, Paauhau for 9 months, and Hilo for 12 years and 8 months. Members and Dharma Friends of Hawi, Kohala, Hamakua, Kurtistown, Hakalau Jodo Missions, and Hilo Meishoin have been very nice to us. I cannot say thank you enough.

In an essay for college admission, she wrote:

Besides being born to immigrant parents, I am also the daughter of a Buddhist minister, meaning I grew up in a church. Ethnically, I partially fit in with those around me as a majority of the church members are Japanese-Americans. There are many different Japanese-Americans—some are nisei, or second generation, some are yonsei, or fourth generation, and some are like me, hapa-Japanese. As I grew older, I learned that most Japanese immigrants came to the Big Island as laborers on sugar plantations, and their cultures were passed down through generations. During the summer months, the churches hold Obon Festivals, where the members teach me how to do traditional Japanese dances. I, a first generation Japanese American, am able to learn about my Japanese heritage from various generations because they held onto their backgrounds.

Growing up around these members who were glad to share their culture with me brought new meaning to 'ohana,' the Hawaiian word for family. Hawai'i is a very close-knit community where virtually everyone is connected to one another. Although I don't have any relatives in Hawai'i, I never felt lonely or disconnected because I, like my local friends, had "uncles," "aunties," and "tutus," or grandmothers, of my own—the church members. My newfound 'ohana' invites me to their various gatherings and parties, indulging me in local delicacies such as poke, laulau, and chicken katsu. They also introduce me to their extended families, just as if I am part of their 'ohana.'

Lisa was accepted into Brown University. I hope she will stay healthy and won't forget your kindness. Again, thank you so much. Arigato gozaimashita. Korekaramo yoroshiku onegai itashimasu. Namu Amida Butsu

SHARING OUR HISTORY TO PRESERVE OUR LEGACY: MEMORIAL DAY

Our Memorial Day service on May 28th was attended by about 45 individuals of all ages. Prior to the service, the work crew showed up to transport and set up the tarps and chairs. Many thanks to John Boyer, Michael Doolittle, Kiyoshi Fujimoto, Hiroshi Kozohara, Akiko Masuda and her guests Andrea and Joseph, Rev. Miyazaki, and Mike Stolp.

Mike Stolp along with Hiroshi Kozohara and Teddy Shiroma raised the flag.

Master of Ceremonies

Rev. Miyazaki performed the service, chanting the Sutta Nipata, the Goodwill Sutra.

Stacy Jacobs, Gunnery Sgt. (ret.) talked about his service in the Navy and Marines, including special operations while deployed overseas. Dedicated service to family and country are clearly his priorities.

In concluding remarks, Ninole resident, Robert Nishimoto, spoke of the Hakalau Veterans Park with this memorial as "wahi pana", a sacred place. The young men listed on the memorial gathered in this spot frequently for school, baseball, and other gatherings. This place was important in their lives. Now it is part of ours. Let us remember.

Many thanks to the following individuals for supporting our Memorial Day service over many, many years: Danny Escalona for photographing the service and Veteran Ray Gandy for playing "TAPS", bringing tears to many.

The ALL-AMERICAN LUNCH served at the Mission following the service was attended by about 25 folks who enjoyed hot dogs, fruit salad, baked beans, and lots and lots of desserts. Many thanks to those who organized the lunch and provided food: Barbara Alford, Yumiko Bamba, Linda Hartwell, Bob and Virginia Juettner, and Mike Stolp and John Boyer.

PRESERVING THE MISSION: Progress, Delays, and Price Increases

Worker shortages, supply chain problems, and inflation are real!

• Progress: We've attached the 27 plaques on hand to the pews. More are ordered. They're beautiful!

- Delays: Scheduling workers is a challenge these days due to scarity of workers. Rainy weather has delayed roof repairs.
- Price Increases: We received the bid for painting the roofs and exteriors substantially higher than expected. We are evaluating options.
- Consequences: Some projects will take longer until we raise additional funds or are able to schedule the workers needed. Seeking additional funding sources is an ongoing process.
- Useful Buddhist wisdom: Everything comes to you in the right moment. Be patient. Be grateful.
